

I'm a medical librarian at Reading Hospital. I like to take photos with my iPhone when my surroundings inspire me. This photo, Winter's Thaw, was taken in February 2022 at the beginning of the Northwest Lancaster County River Trail in Columbia, PA, on a sunny day when late winter ice floes dotted the Susquehanna River.

The Columbia-Wrightsville Bridge (Veterans Memorial Bridge) spans the Susquehanna River between Lancaster and York Counties.

Completed in 1930, its twenty-eight concrete arches make it one of the world's longest concrete multiple-arch bridges. – Alexandra Short
